Just outside the walls of the old city of Jerusalem is an eroded hill that bears a resemblance to a skull, and is called Golgatha. It is said that upon this hill stood three crosses the day that Jesus was crucified. That agonizing day that Christ died is referred to today as "Good Friday".

EASTER — APRIL 22, 1973

Matthew 28:1-9 & Mark 16:14-20 — from The LIVING BIBLE

Early on Sunday morning, as the new day was dawning, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary went out to Jesus' tomb.

Suddenly there was a great earthquake; for an angel of the Lord came down from heaven and rolled aside the stone and sat on it. His face shone like lightning and his clothing was a brilliant white. The guards shook with fear when they saw him, and fell into a dead faint.

Then the angel spoke to the women. "Don't be frightened!" he said, "I know you are looking for Jesus, who was crucified, but he isn't here! For he has come back to life again, just as he said he would. Come in and see where his body was lying . . .

And now go quickly and tell his disciples that he has risen from the dead, and that he is going to Galilee to meet them there. That is my message to them."

The women ran from the tomb, badly frightened, but also filled with joy, and rushed to find the disciples to give them the angel's message. And as they were running, suddenly Jesus was there in front of them!

"Good morning!" he said. And they fell to the ground before him, holding his feet and worshiping him.

Still later he appeared to the eleven disciples as they were eating together. He rebuked them for their unbelief—their stubborn refusal to believe those who had seen him alive from the dead.

And then he told them, "You are to go into all the world and preach the Good News to everyone, everywhere. Those who believe and are baptized will be saved. But those who refuse to believe will be condemned.

When the Lord Jesus had finished talking with them, he was taken up into heaven and sat down at God's right hand.

And the disciples went everywhere preaching, and the Lord was with them and confirmed what they said by the miracles that followed their messages.

Letter To Forum

To the School Board of Appomattox County:

I know that the students do not have much say so on the way our school is run. But we feel we should speak out in concern of Mr. Wayne Tucker's contract for Appomattox High principal. We feel that he was brought here to do a job and had done better in our opinion than any principal we have ever had. Mr. Wayne Tucker is only human, everyone makes mistakes. He has given us one thing I don't recall we have ever had at Appomattox County High School. One, a principal with a sense of humor, second, a great man that understands the youth in our county. He has put discipline in our school that we have not had for a long time.

To Mr. Tucker color does not matter. If black or white does wrong, both are punished. No one is special.

We students feel that he was unfairly treated in the renewal of his contract.

To the people of the School Board let us say this, we are in a better situation to judge the job he has done for this reason, we are around him everyday and see the great job he has done.

The Pastor Speaks

"GIVE"

Another favorite four-letter word is the word "GIVE" Someone once said, "the whole meaning of God coming to us in Jesus Christ can be summarized in one word: Give. The favorite passage for many Christians is "For God loved the world so much that He gave His only Son so that anyone who believes in Him shall not perish but have eternal life." John 3:16 (Living New Testament) God is a great giver. The Bible teaches that He is powerful, He is the Lord, and, He is like a good father. Jesus taught us to trust God as our Heavenly Father. We are dependent upon Him—He is the source of everything which is good. Our salvation is His gift to us through Christ (Romans 4:4). Eternal life is God's gift to those who will believe (Romans 6:23). Christ is God's gift, love and gratitude; it is our response to God's goodness and grace. The Psalmist said, "What shall I give to the Lord for all His benefits toward me?" (Psalm 116:12) The first thing he committed Christian, then, is to give. It was said of the Macedonian Christians that "first they gave themselves to the Lord." (II Corinthians 8:5) Personal self-giving is the highest kind of giving, and the most difficult. It is this self-giving that is so evident in Jesus. The greatest gift Jesus ever gives us is Himself. And His death on the Cross, His Self-Giving, is what God accomplished for us - forgiveness, salvation, new life. And, followers of Jesus Christ are to give, like placing seed in the ground. We give our very lives to Him in faith—in turn everything over to Him who is the Source of our supply. God then takes our gifts and blesses and multiplies our gifts, and we get back more than we have given. (see Luke 6:38) If we give little, we get little in return. "A farmer who plants just a few seeds will get only a small crop, but if he plants much, he will reap much..." (from II Corinthians 9:6-8) When we give, things start happening, like the miracle of seeds turning into beautiful flowers or an abundant crop we have planted. It is the miracle of Resurrection. The secret is learning to give. The Sea of Galilee tingles with life around her borders, her soil is rich with trees, weeds, and willows. Beneath her waters live fish, men make their living there. But the Dead Sea is dead, her soils barren, her waters salt, no life in or around. Why? The Sea of Galilee gives - it gives the River Jordan. The Dead Sea only takes. Those who give really know how to live.

The Sunday School Lesson

Comment on the International Sunday school Lesson for April 22, 1973.

Topic: Christ Conquered Sin and Death.

Scripture: John 11:17-44; I Corinthians 15:20-28, 51-57.

"I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in me, though he die, yet shall he live, and whoever lives and believes in me shall never die." John 11:25-26.

Jesus is many things to believers; The bread of life, the water of life, the good Shepherd. Those, of course are figurative expressions indicating, in various ways, how Jesus supplies the spiritual needs of people.

Some of the descriptions Jesus applied to himself are literal; He is the Way, the most important way anyone can know, the way to God; He is the Truth, the most essential truth a person can ever know, the truth of God; He is the Life, giving to people the most enduring and satisfying life of all, eternal life with God.

In a crisis in the lives of a family which was very dear to Him, the death of Lazarus of Bethany, Jesus reassured one of the grieving sister, "I am the resurrection and the Life," as she resigned herself to awaiting the resurrection of her brother at the end of time.

That Martha believed in an eventual resurrection should not surprise us, for resurrection was one of the cardiant doctrines of the Pharisees, an issue on which they strongly strongly disagreed with the Sadducess. This belief in resurrection was a key factor in the conversion to Christianity of Saul of Tarsus, a leading scholar of the Pharisees.

We may be inclined to regard the encounter of Saul (Paul) with the voice of Jesus (risen) on the road to Damascus as a dramatic, even traumatic, experience which changed the course of his religious life. In this experience Saul realized that he was indeed hearing the voice of One whom he knew had been crucified and whose followers claimed He had risen from the dead. Here was proof of Saul's cherished belief in resurrection, the Jesus of Nazareth who spoke to him in the light which blinded his eyes had indeed risen from the dead. And if the risen Jesus is evidence of ressurrection, then He must be the Christ of God.

In calling Lazarus, who had been dead four days, to come from the tomb and from the grip of death, Jesus demonstrated to the sisters Martha and Mary the reality of His claim to be the resurrection and gave to the company with them the earnest of resurrection. Even before his own resurrection, Jesus had been given by God power over death, the last, most dread, most powerful enemy the human being knows. Jesus demonstrated this power in raising from the dead, the daughter of Jairus, the son of the Nain, and Lazarus, in his own resurrection, which the Western Christian world commemorates on Sunday morning, Jesus accomplished His victory over death and gave assurance that death is not the end, but rather the door which closes on mortal life, to the beginning of may enter eternal life. So He is, as He said, the resurrection and the life.

There are two concepts of eternal life, one Greek, one Hebrew, which in Christian thought have become intertwined and are both used. In the Greek concept, the human body consists in two entities, the mortal body and the immortal soul; death releases the immortal soul from the body. In the Hebrew concept, which is supported by the resurrection of Jesus and the miracles of resurrection He performed, eternal life is attained through resurrection. Saul of Tarsus who became Paul the apostle explained resurrection as the replacement of the mortal, corruptible body with an immortal, incorruptible body.

The post-resurrection appearances of Jesus support this explanation, for the risen Christ appeared as a body, a spiritual body of His will, substantive, recognizable, something as those who had known Him in the flesh. The resurrection of Jesus is the evidence of His victory over death, a victory He shares with those who accept Him as Lord.
